Acknowledgements

This special edition of Coolabah could not have come together without the assistance of the following people. Many thanks to Keera Dahl-Helm for her patience and careful attention to the details of her mother's life and for helping us get the facts right about the mother she loves so much. Also to James (Butch) Singleton Hooper, Pam's partner, for his ongoing support and for providing essential background stories, images and writings. Many thanks to the contributors: Professor Diana Wood Conroy for her support and assistance in the early stages of the project as well as her writing; Trevor Avery for bringing to light the importance of Pam's work in a global sense; Pauline Mitchell for bringing us together as family and for her continuing support of Pam and her work; C.Moore Hardy for articulating the importance of a woman's life in Pam's work and adding a strong feminist perspective plus continuing support to honouring Pam; Cate McCarthy, for her ongoing friendship and support in getting this special edition for Pam together plus the many invaluable talks we have had by phone on email and for being a perfect host at Fat Wombat Farm as well as providing much of the background information and images from Pam's archives. To Doctor Sue Ballyn of the Australian Studies Centre at the University of Barcelona, for suggesting we could publish a special edition for Pam in the first place and to Doctor Maarten Renes for special insights and assistance as executive editor on the project. To fellow artists, colleagues and friends of Pam, Josie Kim and Amalina Wallace for providing much needed missing pieces. To artist and educator Elizabeth Day for her invaluable perspectives on the importance of art in prisons. To the School of Arts and Social Sciences Southern Cross University for their ongoing support of my eclectic research.

Thank you to the numerous others I have spoken to who have helped honour the life and times of this remarkable woman.
